It appears that minor "Jane Doe" will have her abortion - and soon.

A three-judge panel issued a preliminary injunction in U.S. District Court Wednesday afternoon prohibiting state interference if Jane Doe obtains an abortion over her parents' objections. Jane Doe is the 17-year-old resident of a Lincoln foster home who asked the court to declare invalid a Nebraska statute requiring parental consent for abortions on minors and enjoining state officials from enforcing that law.

The law states that "no abortion shall be performed . . . on any minor child in the State of Nebraska without . . . consent of parent or guardian." The stated age of majority if 19.

That statute "is probably at odds with the U.S. Constitution," said the opinion issued by U.S. Circuit Judge Donald R. Ross of St. Louis, Mo., and U.S. District Judges Warren K. Urbom and Robert

An opinion is "to be filed in several days." "It appears that ... the plaintiff will be irreparably harmed unless the defendants are preliminarily enjoined," said the order, citing her ability "to make an informed and deliberate decision.'

Dr. Y. Scott Moore, Jane Doe's physician, said. at a hearing Tuesday that his patient is ten to 12 weeks pregnant and that the abortion could safely be conducted "throughout the remainder of this week, but probably no longer." The plaintiff is "just barely within the first trimester of pregnanat the lowest possible price."

The President submitted legislation to grant the airlines greater flexibility to raise or lower ticket prices on individual routes and more authority to start or stop service between

The proposal would sharply curtail the authority of the Civil Aeronautics Board over airline fares and routes. It would make the CAB's primary responsibility one of serving the public while diminishing the board's mission of promoting the air-

It also would make it easier for new airlines to enter service - particularly on routes where no scheduled service exists.

The legislation would let airlines raise or lower fares on individual routes instead of making changes on a systemwide basis. The administration said this would help eliminate crosssubsidization — a process where profitable routes are used to cover losses on unprofitable routes and make the fare on each route more competitive.

Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr. said air fares "should remain the same or go down" if the Ford legislation is passed. He also said airline customers would get "more price quality options" such as low fares in non-peak hours or "no frills" fares where passengers pay lower prices and receive less in-flight service.

Other administration officials predicted overall airline fares could drop 10 to 15% in the first year if the bill is adopted. Some fares could rise, they admitted, but added that any increase would be smaller than would occur under the current regulatory system.

The administration's analysis was disputed by the Air Transport Association, which represents the scheduled airlines. The trade group claimed the legislation would bring higher prices, would turn an orderly air transportation system into chaos, and would reduce or eliminate service to many citites.

The Airline Pilots Association also said the legislation would mean higher fares and reduced or eliminated service in many communities. "We cannot allow the country to be stampeded into changes such as those proposed in this ill-conceived and politically motivated legislation," the pilots association said in a state-

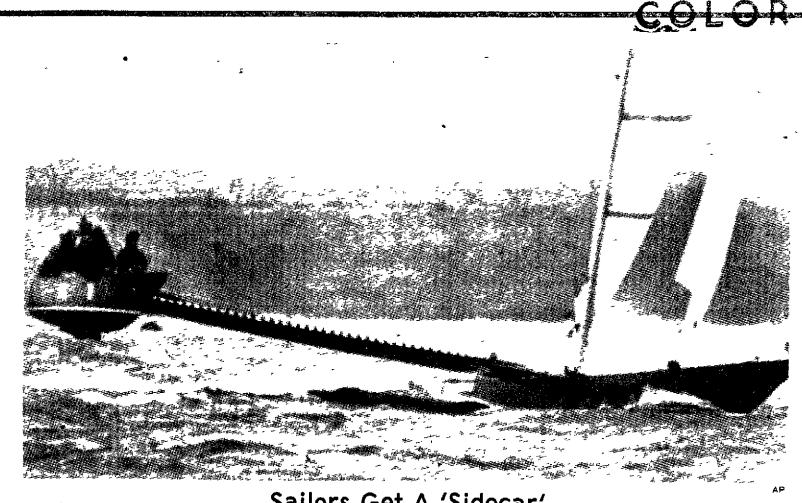

The legislation would let the airlines raise their fares by up to 10% or lower them by up to 20% in the first year without fear that the CAB would suspend prohibit from going into effect the new fares.

Fares could be reduced by 40% below current fares in the second year without bringing the CAB suspension power into play. Increases would be limited to 10% of the fare in effect at the end of the year.

The CAB still would be allowed to investigate any new fares and could order the fares rolled back if that investigation showed the new prices were unjust or discriminatory. It also would be allowed to suspend any fare -- no matter if it was in the "no suspend" zone or not — if the board determined it had cause to believe the fare was predatory - that is, priced below cost in order to drive a competitor out.

The airlines would be allowed to expand their system by adding routes to cities which they do not already serve - even if another airline currently serves that city - after Jan. 1, 1981. However this expansion would be limited. Major airlines, for example, could not increase their route miles by more than 5% a year. year.

The airlines also would be allowed to abandon unprofitable routes under certain conditions. If another airline served the route, the carrier requesting the abandonment could stop service on 90 days notice. If no other airline served the route, the airline would be allowed to abandon the route only if it showed it was losing money.

Regents Told Problem Slight, Asked To Back Tenure

By DICK HOLMAN Star Staff Writer

Rather than tenure posing a "specter" of academic and administrative inflexibility at the University of Nebraska, it's "a long-range problem, at worst," according to a report prepared for NU

Steven B. Sample, executive vice president for academic affairs, called for regents to reaffirm the present tenure system, awarding faculty guaranteed reemployment contracts.

But Sample made five recommendations that would adjust some of its procedures on all three campuses.

Regents last April temporarily suspended tenure-granting, concerned that the number of tenured faculty relative to the total eligible (tenure fraction, or density) was disproportionately high on the Lincoln campus.

Sample was ordered to study NU tenure policies and submit proposals designed to reduce the density "over the next several years."

On Friday Agenda Sample released the 21-page report Wednesday. Regents will consider it at an 8 a.m. meeting Friday at 3835 Holdrege. Noting he consulted faculty, administrators and a special advisory committee. Sample said the recommendations are his alone. He suggested regents defer action until November, to allow review by the entire NU academic community.

Adjusting tenure to ensure its continued operation, Sample said, will first enable NU to pursue the goal of reducing tenure density on the NU campuses while simultaneously improving academic Second, he proposed regents award tenure only at the end of the full, seven-year probationary period, "except in cases of very special merit" and for faculty with applicable experience elsewhere.

Adjustments in implementing review of tenure-bound faculty dwell largely on stringent departmental and college-level reviews. Strict Enforcement

Third, each campus should review, strengthen, distribute widely and enforce strictly the written standards for tenure, Sample recommended.

Rigorous standards should allow tenure awards "only on the basis of demonstrated and documentable academic achievement, rather than on promise," he wrote. Fourth, Sample said tenure "is the most significant" of all rewards NU may offer faculty. Thus, "the tenure system should operate separately and indepentently" of NU's salary and promotion systems. Promotion would not imply eventual

Finally, Sample said the tenure density study should be updated annually, to monitor the terrure

He said the "oft-expressed concern" that NU "is in danger of losing its capability to bring in new blood because of its high tenure density is probably overstated." Rather, because of turnover, "new faculty will continue to flow into NU at a deliverate and continuing rate."

'Not Out Of Line'

In analyzing tenure density at 97 universities, Sample reported he found the 68% level at UNL in 1974-75 "moderately high" but "not out of line" by UNL was at the average among Big Eight universities, where the highest tenure density was 75%, the lowest, 58%.

Only 15 of the 97 institutions polled were tenured 50% or less; 68 including UNL were tenured between 51% and 70%. Eleven reported 71% to 90% of their faculty held tenure. None had a larger fraction.

Beginning last month, UNL density rose to 73.7%, but that fraction "will remain relatively the same," compared to other Big Eight schools where tenure increased at about the same rate, he

"More important," Sample wrote, the NUwide tenure level of 64.4% "is substantially lower than that of the Lincoln campus alone." Density at the Omaha campus is 61%, and at the Medical Center in Omaha, 39.6%.

Depends On Method The current NU tenure level "seemed excessive" to some, Sample said. But the NU pattern not only is typical nationally, it's relationship with academic and administrative flexibility is "favorable," — not threatening when weighed against all "budgeted academic positions." Then, the NU fraction drops to 49.4%.

By campus, 859 tenured faculty members at UNL represent 56.6% of all academic positions for all programs, including part-time faculty, instructors and lecturers but excluding graduate students. At UNMC, 153 or 32.5% hold tenure in the 471position pool; at UNL, 233 or 44.1%, of 528.

Although NU tenure awards annually "have been unusually large" recently, Sample found "they will be dramatically smaller during the next decade," and "have already begun to diminish." Thus, even if regents took no action to change the tenure policy, probably "built-in circumstances couraging.'

total tenure awards through 1982, Sample explained a "steady state" is possible in conjunction with normal, inevitable resignations, retirements, deaths and non-renewals.

However, Sample noted, the regents' goal is not "to achieve only a steady state in tenure density" but to reduce it. He said his recommendations - some of which are already being employed by various NU units - would accomplish a reduction, and should be used NU-wide.

"There still are some tensions," she acknowledged.

At the news conference the mayor declined to outline her alternate proposal on the grounds that she wanted to discuss her plan with other officials and citizens first. Reportedly several lawmakers have complained about not being kept informed on the situation.

Justice Department officials verified, however, that they are expecting an answer Thursday on whether the Common will call them in.

John Perez, regional office director, said the mediation process would deal primarily with police-community relations, police procedures and affirmative action programs.

Even if the officials refuse to go along with the mayor's suggestion, Perez said his agency still has a responsibility to stay involved in an effort to ease local tensions. In the meantime, Lahners reported his in-

Lahners said he will announce his findings at the end of this week or early next week. Lahners is expected to report whether or not he intends to file charges against Deputy Sheriff Rod Loos, who shot Lewis during a drug raid.

In denying the charges, Spencer said he did teach his followers how to use scramblers to ensure that a telephone line cannot be tapped, but said this is a protective rather than an offensive

Washington (UPI) - President Ford's new political director, Stuart Spencer of Los Angeles, is the original "dirty trickster" of politics who taught others to wiretap, spy and disrupt opponents' campaigns, it was reported Wednesday.

The story by the Washington bureau of Scripps-Howard Newspapers quoted Raymond V. Humphreys, a Washingtonbased political consultant and three unnamed sources as saying they were taught "political thuggery" in a series of congressional campaign management seminars conducted by California Republicans Spencer and his associate, William Roberts, in the late 1960s.

Spencer vigorously denied the charges and said he had emphasized winning in his talks but had never advocated underhanded or illegal practices.

The Scripps-Howard sources said Spencer had as his motto: "It is not how you play the game that counts, it is whether you win or lose," and taught these tactics: -How to pay janitors for the contents of trashbaskets from opponents' headquarters. -How to install electronic surveillance equipment.

-How to disrupt campaigns by planting phony information which, for instance, might result in the candidate showing up for an indoor rally to find the doors locked and the place deserted because those staging it had been told falsely the date had been changed.

Humphreys said he was "quite shocked" by the seminars, and said, "I don't regard political thuggery as a good way to make a contribution.

The other sources agreed with his assessment, and called the seminars the forerunner of the brand of dirty campaigning on Richard Nixon's behalf which brought about the Watergate scandal.

Chilean Refugees Given Guarantee Of Safe Exit

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) - Chilean refugees protesting their living conditions in Argentina seized 14 hostages in the United Nations refugee comission office and the Argentine government agreed Wednesday night to give them safe passage out of the country.

The Chileans, who burst into the office at midday Wednesday, freed all eight women captives by nightfall, and shortly before midnight released a man they said had suffered an epileptic seizure. Police agreed to let those remaining in the office alone for the night while the United Nations searched for a country to take them.

An Argentine Foreign Ministry statement said the government will "guarantee the safety" of the refugees enroute to another land.

Officials brought blankets and food into the office and the refugees - numbering about a dozen, including at least two women - said they would allow the remaining hostages to sleep.

Early in the siege, a refugee spokesman told The Associated Press by telephone: "If the authorities try anything we will blow ourselves up. We have a hand grenade and revolvers.

He said he was Brazilian but the other refugees were all Chileans.

They released the women captives - in groups of three and two - Wednesday night following negotiations with Argentine and United Nations authorities. A refugee spokesman said they freed the hostages "out of humanitarian reasons and

The six remaining hostages included Robert Mueller, a Swiss who heads the U.N. High Commission for Refugees office here, and nationals of Argentina, Chile and Austria. The freed women were six Argentines, one Egyptian and one Spaniard.

At first the refugees said they had 13 hostages but later their spokesman said: "We made a mistake in counting them in the confusion.'

The spokesman said he believed the refugee commission headquarters in Geneva was negotiating with Sweden, Belgium and Denmark to accept the refugees "and we will go to any of those countries." Chilean refugees have been a major social and political problem in Argentina since the rightwing military coup in Chile two years ago in which President Salvador Allende died. Refugeeswere allowed into Argentina under controlled conditions, but their presence began to cause difficulties as relations improved between the Argentine and Chilean governments.

On Tuesday, the army clashed with the Marxist People's Revolutionary Army (ERP) in the mountains of Tucuman. Casualties were reported as at least 20 guerrillas and seven soldiers dead. Thirty guerrillas were reported captured.

Patty May Have To Be Freed

San Francisco - The government, whose attorneys have said they fear she may run if released on ball, may be forced to turn Patricia Hearst free on her own recognizance unless it can bring her to trial by late December. Federal officials confirm that a law that went into effect Sept. 29 provides that a prisoner held without bail must be tried within 90 days of arrest or else be turned free to await trial. Thus Miss Hearst must be on trial by Dec. 27 unless some resolution of her status has been reached.

Soviets Expanding Laos Role

Vientiane, Laos - The Soviet Union has moved rapidly to enlarge its influence in Laos since the Pathet Lao takeover last spring ended the era of American dominance. An estimated 300 to 500 Soviet diplomats, pilots, engineers and technicians are active in communications, geological surveys and building a city of 200,000 on the devastated Plain of Jars. The Soviet buildup is part of an intense rivalry for influence in Laos with both North Vietnam and China.

New York - Chinese geologists attending a colloquium in the United States have concluded from explorations in Central Asia that the Asian continent is the product of several continental collisions, one of which is still crumpling and twisting the landscape. refugees protesting their living conditions in Argentina seized 14 hostages in the United Nations refugee comission office and the Argentine government agreed Wednesday night to give them safe passage out of the country.

The Chileans, who burst into the office at midday Wednesday, freed all eight women captives by nightfall, and shortly before midnight released a man they said had suffered an epileptic seizure. Police agreed to let those remaining in the office alone for the night while the United Nations searched for a country to take them.

An Argentine Foreign Ministry statement said the government will "guarantee the safety" of the refugees enroute to another land.

Officials brought blankets and food into the office and the refugees — numbering about a dozen, including at least two women - said they would allow the remaining hostages to sleep.

Early in the siege, a refugee spokesman told The Associated Press by telephone: "If the authorities try anything we will blow ourselves up. We have a hand grenade and revolvers.'

He said he was Brazilian but the other refugees were all Chileans.

They released the women captives — in groups of three and two - Wednesday night following negotiations with Argentine and United Nations authorities. A refugee spokesman said they freed the hostages "out of humanitarian reasons and

The six remaining hostages included Robert Mueller, a Swiss who heads the U.N. High Commission for Refugees office here, and nationals of Argentina, Chile and Austria. The freed women were six Argentines, one Egyptian and one Spaniard.

At first the refugees said they had 13 hostages but later their spokesman said: "We made a mistake in counting them in the confusion.'

The spokesman said he believed the refugee commission headquarters in Geneva was negotiating with Sweden, Belgium and Denmark to accept the refugees "and we will go to any of those countries.'

Chilean refugees have been a major social and political problem in Argentina since the rightwing military coup in Chile two years ago in which President Salvador Allende died. Refugees were allowed into Argentina under controlled conditions, but their presence began to cause difficulties as relations improved between the Argentine and Chilean governments.

On Tuesday, the army clashed with the Marxist People's Revolutionary Army (ERP) in the mountains of Tucuman. Casualties were reported as at least 20 guerrillas and seven soldiers dead. Thirty guerrillas were reported captured.

The Mess In Kansas City

Everything's out of sorts in Kansas City. After a four day strike, city firemen are back to work, but they are still at odds with the city administration so far as terms of an agreement are concerned. And through the civil disorder of the past few days the principle protagonists have looked bad - from the merely whiny performance of Mayor Charles Wheeler to the downright ugly attitude of the striking firemen.

Saving Kansas City's reputation as a civilized community were the hundreds of untrained volunteers who manned the firefighting equipment at a time when an unprecedented number of fires were breaking out for unexplained reasons, causing upwards of $3 million in damages. Arson is suspected, and arson by striking firemen at that.

There now exists immeasurable bad feeling between the city administration and the firefighters' union. City officials want the union held responsible for damages from the fires and for expenses in maintaining order during the strike. Firemen are angry because the union has scaled down its original demands of wage parity with city policemen and because their image has suffered.

It has suffered because the firemen in Kansas City behaved like jerks, and if the arson charges are true, it is worse than that - those who plunged to that depth to gain wage demands are nothing more than criminals.

The mess in Kansas City is enough to rally support behind Coolidge's homily about public servants and strikes; that the former have no right to the latter. And it is worrisome evidence, along with the teacher strikes and other municipal employe strikes of recent times, that money is by far the most important motivation in public service and that the traditional motivations involving desires for order, safety and community have little to do with it any more.

If the Kansas City problem is bothersome, think about what may happen in New York City, where the problems are older, passions more intense and civilized behavior a quaint relic of the past.

One financial official has predicted that default on its debts by New York City "is an absolute certainty." In default, he predicted grimly, city workers, including police and firemen, would not be paid, "and when you skip a payroll in New York City, you have job action," an end to city services, civil unrest and "revolt against the city establishment."

In short, chaos.

No Tax On Millions

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, Ohio Democrat, undoubtedly made hay with constituents in pointing out the low rate of taxation applied against some of the largest corporations in the country. His figures included eight well known industries that paid no taxes at all for 1974, despite adjusted net incomes ranging from $17 million to more than $300 million.

For 1974, he noted, the applicable tax rate was 22.6 percent for 142 major corporations, as opposed to the top rate of 48 percent. The public, of course, should be cautious in interpreting these figures. As Vanik noted, the low tax payments involved no illegalities at all.

Tax laws do provide relief, for instance, in cases where corporate profits greatly fluctuate from year to year, just as they do for individuals. And when a company must pay taxes for its successful ventures, it should receive offsetting benefits for its failures.

But the overall impact of the figures is to again demonstrate a basic inequity in our tax system. That inequity is found in the fact that the average citizen or wage earner must pretty well pay through the nose on every dollar earned.

That means this wage earner has very few ways in which to reduce his or her tax liability. The complexities of our federal tax system and the use of this system as an incentive for endless objectives beyond support of the federal government clearly favors those in the higher income level.

This is one of the long standing explanations for public discontent with government. Many citizens have had the gnawing conviction that the federal tax laws are a haven of privilege for the wealthy and one never sees anything to dispell the idea.

The coming campaign for the presidency is apt to put the spotlight on this sort of thing — on the merits of what the federal government is doing rather than the philosophical aspects of its programs.

The integrity of federal action is becoming more important than its liberalism or conservatism.

For example, the President of Mexico. Luis Echeverria Alvarez, has been here addressing the General Assembly on his visions of the contemporary and the coming world. He did not talk as our neighbor in the Western Hemisphere, but as a spokesman for the poor nations all over the world, and as a critic of the industrial nations, particularly the United States.

He wants a redistribution of the wealth of the world. He wants the prices of the raw material of the underdeveloped countries to be increased to match the prices of manufactured products from the industrial world. He is very frank and bold about it: he wants nothing less than an economic revolution, and what he calls a "new world economic order," not only 2 redistribution of wealth, but a redistribution of power in the United

For example, he told the General Assembly here that "for the first time, we can achieve a lasting peace, not the peace that prolonged privileges and powers." The main thrust of his argument was against the industrial powers, and the multinational capitalist companies, and in favor of a democracy of the majority of the poor nations.

At no time did he ever refer to the offers of the United States to negotiate a should decide world problems by their new relationship with the un-

They want a "new world order," but as Echeverria insisted, also their own independent and nationalistic rights. They want to control prices, exports and imports but cannot control their population. What does October bring that September did not lend? More of the same except more pungent and colorful. Part of the essence of summer is wrapped in the bold, heady marigolds and the green smell of tomato plants that rubs off on your hands when you think you have picked the last tomato before frost. There's the aromatic dill weed and the sound of papery corn husks in the wind, the purple shadows viewed from a rolling hilltop out across the meadowland and the snow fence being rolled out along the roadways.

As if he were prompted by a cue card there is a squirrel digging in our newly seeded blue grass lawn, burying an acorn for his winter food supply. He wants to get into the act also. This sunny, bright blue weather that October ushers in prompts him to be a bit frisky.

Nuclear Power Cost

In response to your Oct. 2 editorial questioning the wisdom of the City Council's veto of involvement in the Fort Calhoun plant, I would like to refer you to the article on the mayor's support of the council in the previous day's paper. The cost estimate the council, the mayor and your editorial cited for Lincoln's share of the Ft. Calhoun bill was $129 million. However, in the Zerschling article LES Administrator Walt Canney gave a new estimate of $161.7 million. Already that indicates an in-meeting that the cost estimates of building and operating nuclear plants should have improved from past experiences hasn't been substantiated by Mr. Canney's projected cost increase. One gets the impression that LES is not fully cognizant of the total cost or is being less than fully candid about the Ft. Calhoun involvement.

The Mess In Kansas City

Everything's out of sorts in Kansas City. After a four day strike, city firemen are back to work, but they are still at odds with the city administration so far as terms of an agreement are concerned. And through the civil disorder of the past few days the principle protagonists have looked bad - from the merely whiny performance of Mayor Charles Wheeler to the downright ugly attitude of the striking firemen.

Saving Kansas City's reputation as a civilized community were the hundreds of untrained volunteers who manned the firefighting equipment at a time when an unprecedented number of fires were breaking out for unexplained reasons, causing upwards of $3 million in damages. Arson is suspected, and arson by striking firemen at that.

There now exists immeasurable bad feeling between the city administration and the firefighters' union. City officials want the union held responsible for damages from the fires and for expenses in maintaining order during the strike. Firemen are angry because the union has scaled down its original demands of wage parity with city policemen and because their image has suffered.

It has suffered because the firemen in Kansas City behaved like jerks, and if the arson charges are true, it is worse than that - those who plunged to that depth to gain wage demands are nothing more than criminals.

The mess in Kansas City is enough to rally support behind Coolidge's homily about public servants and strikes; that the former have no right to the latter. And it is worrisome evidence, along with the teacher strikes and other municipal employe strikes of recent times, that money is by far the most important motivation in public service and that the traditional motivations involving desires for order, safety and community have little to do with it any more.

If the Kansas City problem is bothersome, think about what may happen in New York City, where the problems are older, passions more intense and civilized behavior a quaint relic of the past.

One financial official has predicted that default on its debts by New York City "is an absolute certainty." In default, he predicted grimly, city workers, including police and firemen, would not be paid, "and when you skip a payroll in New York City, you have job action," an end to city services, civil unrest and "revolt against the city establishment.

In short, chaos.

No Tax On Millions

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, Ohio Democrat, undoubtedly made hay with constituents in pointing out the low rate of taxation applied against some of the largest corporations in the country. His figures included eight well known industries that paid no taxes at all for 1974, despite adjusted net incomes ranging from $17 million to more than $300 million.

For 1974, he noted, the applicable tax rate was 22.6 percent for 142 major corporations, as opposed to the top rate of 48 percent. The public, of course, should be cautious in interpreting these figures. As Vanik noted, the low tax payments involved no illegalities at all.

Tax laws do provide relief, for instance, in cases where corporate profits greatly fluctuate from year to year, just as they do for individuals. And when a company must pay taxes for its successful ventures, it should receive offsetting benefits

But the overall impact of the figures is to again demonstrate a basic inequity in our tax system. That inequity is found in the fact that the average citizen or wage earner must pretty well pay through the nose on every dollar earned.

That means this wage earner has very few ways in which to reduce his or her tax liability. The complexities of our federal tax system and the use of this system as an incentive for endless objectives beyond support of the federal government clearly favors those in the higher income level.

This is one of the long standing explanations for public discontent with government. Many citizens have had the gnawing conviction that the federal tax laws are a haven of privilege for the wealthy and one never sees anything to dispell the idea.

The coming campaign for the presidency is apt to put the spotlight on this sort of thing — on the merits of what the federal government is doing rather than the philosophical aspects of its programs.

The integrity of federal action is becoming more important than its liberalism or conservatism.

United Nations - Once a year, the representatives of the nations gather here at the United Nations on the East River, and tell us what's wrong with the world. And especially when they are our neighbors, defining their grievances and their hopes, we are bound to listen with the utmost attention.

For example, the President of Mexico, Luis Echeverria Alvarez, has been here addressing the General Assembly on his visions of the contemporary and the coming world. He did not talk as our neighbor in the Western Hemisphere, but as a spokesman for the poor nations all over the world, and as a critic of the industrial nations, particularly the United States.

He wants a redistribution of the wealth of the world. He wants the prices of the raw material of the underdeveloped countries to be increased to match the prices of manufactured products from the industrial world. He is very frank and bold about it: he wants nothing less than an economic revolution, and what he calls a "new world economic order," not only a redistribution of wealth, but a redistribution of power in the United

What he means by this, or so he says, is that the majority of all the countries in the United Nations - all 140 of them should decide world problems by their votes. He wants "a peace built on a new mentality" and on a "new philosophic concept of history.

Specifically, he suggests that the majority votes of all the nations in the world organization should prevail, that the Third World or poor nations should have a veto in the U.N. Security Council, and that the prices of raw materials produced in the poor countries should be indexed to the prices they have to pay for manufactured products from the industrial nations.

Echeverria is a fascinating character. with visions of the way the world should be, and ambitions to play a role in the United Nations as a successor to Secretary General Kurt Waldheim, but his arguments are one-sided in favor of the Soviet Union and the Third World.

For example, he told the General Assembly here that "for the first time, we can achieve a lasting peace, not the peace that prolonged privileges and powers.' The main thrust of his argument was against the industrial powers, and the multinational capitalist companies, and in favor of a democracy of the majority of the poor nations.

At no time did he ever refer to the offers of the United States to negotiate a new relationship with the underdeveloped nations, but merely insisted that affluent countries must make major concessons to avoid social, economic and even military conflicts in the world. He criticized Moscow for giving political support to the Third World but not following through with practical offers of support. And he insisted that "there can be no real possibility of peace without disarmament.

"Hundreds of thousands of scientists and technicians, and millions of men in the great industrial countries," he said, "are working today on the manufacture and sale of arms. That is a fact. In the Third World, because of the population explosion and underdevelopment, there is tragic and alarming unemployment, while in the industrial countries, there is beginning to be in some cases very serious structual unemployment . . . to put it as directly as possible, it will be impossible to abolish rearmament . . .

... to a true economy of peace ..." * * *

What is clear in these debates at the United Nations, however, is that the Third World countries, and their spokesmen like Echeverria, are merely saying, as President Kennedy once did, that "life is unfair," but have no answer to it except to condemn the industrial and affluent countries.

They want a "new world order," but as Echeverria insisted, also their own independent and nationalistic rights. They want to control prices, exports and imports but cannot control their population. The new world order they are talking about assumes common agreement on common policies to create a wholly different world, but there is no evidence of this here at the United Nations or anywhere else at the present time. So the poor nations have their visions. but many nations and men, like Echeverria, have had similar dreams before. "One might conclude," H. G. Wells wrote long ago, "that the only people to whom we could look for sympathy and any passionate energy in forwarding the revolutionary change would be the unhappy, the discontented, the dispossessed and the defeated in life's struggle. This except by moving from a war economy idea lies at the root of the class-war dogmas of the Marxists, and it rests on an entirely crude conception of human Washington - Associates of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. have asked us to investigate the FBI's smear charges against him and to publish our honest findings. His widow, they say, hopes we will clear his name.

We have found that the FBI sometime after 1964 began leaking stores about Dr. King's alleged sexual exploits and supposed Communist ties. The leaks were ordered personally by the late J. Edgar Hoover who had developed a fierce hatred for the black leader.

Hoover began the smear campaign after learning in advance that Dr. King would get the 1964 Nobel peace prize. The selection was reported to the late FBI chief in a secret memo from his intelligence network. He was so infuriated that he scrawled words of outrage on the memo in blue pencil, we were told.

Not long afterwards, Hoover was visited by Atlanta's police chief, Herbert Jenkins, who was then president of the International Association of Chiefs of Suddenly, out of context, Hoover blurted that he had three enemies whom he hated more than anyone else in the world. He identified them as his former deputy Quinn Tamm, ex-Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The dumbfounded Jenkins later encountered his friend, Dr. Martin Luther

Indeed, the FBI kept the civil rights crusader under surveillance and even bugged his hotel suites Then the FBI used the information to start a whispering campaign against him. At the urging of his associates, we have now checked into the stories that the FBI spread about him. Here are our findings:

Did Dr. King have secret Communist connections? He was in touch with a known Communist attorney in New York King Sr., on the streets of Atlanta. City, who tried to influence his civil rights Jenkins took the occasion to warn the old campaign. However, Dr. King never let the Communists take over his movement and remained a staunch anti-Communist. He eventually accepted some of the attorney's anti-Vietnam War views. But those who knew Dr. King agree he was motivated by humanity, not ideology.

Did the FBI tape a sex orgy, involving Dr. King, at Washington's old Willard Hotel? Witnesses who were with him at the Willard recall that he used some ribald language but indulged in no sexual

There was evidence on the tape, according to those who heard it, that sexual intercourse occurred. But Dr. King was not one of the lovers. The man's voice was identified as that of an acquaintance.

Did Dr. King, while in Norway to accept the Nobel peace prize, chase a woman through an Oslo hotel? Rumors of the hot pursuit were whispered around Washington by the FBI.

Witnesses recall that some supporters of Dr. King let their jubilation get out of hand, brought prostitutes into the hotel and raised a ruckus. The witnesses remember clearly that King was not among them but, on the contrary, tried to quiet the celebration.

Did Dr. King carry on a romance with the wife of a Los Angeles dentist? To check out this FBI report, we spoke directly with both the dentist and his wife. Both agreed that she was Dr. King's close friend but not his lover.

Thus the FBI's attempt to besmirch the great civil rights leader, as Dr. King himself predicted before his martyrdom, has backfired against the FBI.

Footnote: Neither Dr. Martin Luther King Sr. nor Herbert Jenkins would comment about the incidents involving them. But our sources had direct knowledge of

They also told about another warning which Jenkins gave to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. before a dangerous visit to Alabama, "Don't go to Alabama or they'll kill you," urged the Atlanta police chief. The black leader replied quietly: "If that's the Lord's will." On April 4, 1968, still guided by the Lord's will, he was Part of the essence of summer is wrapped in the bold, heady marigolds and the green smell of tomato plants that rubs off on your hands when you think you have picked the last tomato before frost. #### March On Washington

Falls City I really would not object to citizens whose views are communistic and whose political party membership is with the Socialist Workers Party. I wouldn't object to Jeremy Rifkin's "Peoples' Bicentennial Commission," either except for the following facts: Bella Abzug has placed members of the Socialist Workers Party on her staff which means these individuals are being paid from tax-money provided by patriotic Americans. Well — even that wouldn't be so intolerable as the fact that now rumor has it, these Socialists are to be included in the portion of staff investigating our CIA. Because of press pressure, the CIA has had to open its doors to every kook and non-kook, and semi-kook who shows interest in "wasting" the only organization the United States has which can cope with the KGB. I think Legislators who permit such violations of logic, common-sense and proper concern for the Nation's defense facilities have to be as incompetent and unbalanced as the constitutional defectors pulling it off.

As for "The Peoples' Bicentennial Commission," it's composed of the same political radicals we find in the Socialist Workers Party, and they have managed to get their hands in the tax-till - using funds provided by patriotic Americans, to assault our system of Free Enterprise.

What we need is a demonstration in Washington to end all demonstrations. Every American citizen who believes in his country ought to "march" on the Capitol in a show of strength that could let the whole world know we are not about to "fall like ripe fruit" into the waiting hands of tyrannists.

Nuclear Power Cost

In response to your Oct. 2 editorial questioning the wisdom of the City Council's veto of involvement in the Fort Calhoun plant, I would like to refer you to the article on the mayor's support of the council in the previous day's paper. The cost estimate the council, the mayor and your editorial cited for Lincoln's share of the Ft. Calhoun bill was $129 million. However, in the Zerschling article LES Administrator Walt Canney gave a new estimate of $161.7 million. Already that indicates an increase of $32.7 million, or 25%.

Councilmember Cook or Sikyta's statement at Monday's meeting that the cost estimates of building and operating nuclear plants should have improved from past experiences hasn't been substantiated by Mr. Canney's projected cost increase. One gets the impression that LES is not fully cognizant of the total cost or is being less than fully candid about the Ft. Calhoun involvement.

A Crane's-Eye View

One farmer states he had heard cranes say "Vote for Mid-State." Well, I, too, have seen and heard cranes go over, but the cranes I see and hear are saying quite the opposite.

We all know that cranes are smart birds (Senator Curtis told us so) and they get a bird's-eye view of the Mid-State Project. They can look down on the most fertile land Nebraska has to offer and see the miles and miles of corn that is now being harvested. They can see the hay stacks, silage piles, fat hogs and cattle in feed lots and pastures.

They can look down on a quiet, peaceful countryside and watch as folks prepare their land and home for winter. They see young men who hope to follow in their fathers' footsteps and farm the land that has been in the family for two or three generations. They look down on a quiet, peaceful farm community where everyone is a neighbor and good friend. Then the cranes take a second look and see the government taking this land for about one-third of what it is worth. They see men and machines tear away the irrigated farm land and destroy farm homes. They see Miller completely destroyed. They watch as the cemetery is dug up and flooded. They see huge ditches criss-crossing the Nebraska countryside, dividing farms and destroying farm land all to get this water to the land it is supposed to irrigate - land that will take thousands of dollars and several years to produce like the land that was flooded over.

The cranes can see the huge amount of money that will be needed for this project and how many generations will pass before it is paid for. They can see the low-lying farm land that once produced abundant crops reduced now to growing reeds, snakes, mosquitos and frogs. They can see wet or damp basements from Grand Island to Sumner and all points in

They look down and wonder where their old nesting grounds have gone and how many of their own number won't be able to make it to the next stopping place.

Yes, I see cranes going over and they always seem to have their heads pointed towards heaven and their wings folded and they seem to be praying, "Forgive them Father, for they know not what they do.'

Facts On Federal Pay

Despite the myth that federal employees are overpaid, here are the facts on Federal salaries put out by the U.S. Civil Service

• Over one-third (36.78%) are in grades 5 and below. Their pay rates average between $2.24 and $4.63 per hour. The average hourly rate is $4.04 per hour for these 475,000 Federal employees. • Over half (52%) are on Grades 7 and below. The average per hour rate is $4.47 for these 673,000 Federal employees. • Black Lung Beneficiaries (who receive 1/3 of the GS-2 salary base) are being denied justice.

• The President's Pay Agent (OMB-CSC) and the President's Advisory Committee recommended 8.66% pay increases. President Ford's economy measures should be directed at interest rates, excess oil profits, and consumer rip offs, not tax paying Federal Employees.

The American Federation of Government Employes, AFL-CIO, and the 650,000 Federal employees we represent urge the following action in Congress:

(1) Limit the Congressional and top Executive Pav Raise to 5% by voting for H.R. 9796.

(2) Vote for H.R. 688 which disapproves the 5% pay plan submitted by President Ford - Thus allowing an 8.6% pay increase for Federal civilian and military employees. A favorable vote on these two resolutions will serve the intent of the Federal Pay Comparability Act of 1970 and take Federal employees' pay out of politics. CARL W. HOLT property owners, and some own more than one lot, according to a Beaver Lake list. Proximity Counts A check with several Lincolnites who own property at Beaver Lake bears out Calvin's opinion - proximity to Lincoln was an important factor in purchase of property and in the success of Beaver Lake.

One property owner who lives success while similar in Lincoln said "closeness to developments in Nebraska Lincoln" was a consideration because other developments "were too far away."

Lincoln did have some bearing on the purchase.

Another Lincoln family, which hopes to build there in the future from $1,500 to $24,000. and is considering the possibility of buying commercial property at Beaver Lake, also cited proximity to Lincoln as a very important aspect in the decision to buy a lot. Another Lincoln woman said she and her husband felt it would be "a handy place to go for weekends."

95 Homes Up

Although most of the Lincoln property owners are using the Beaver Lake facilities solely for weekend and vacation enjoyment now, there are 95 families already living around the lake with more homes under con-ment, said that location near approved by the Beaver Lake Corp. Most Bomes exceed 1,200 square feet in size and are built on lots which sell for anywhere

> According to Calvin, the $1,500 lots are not lots on which a home could be built but merely 'membership lots'' which purchasers may buy in order to utilize the lake's facilitites.

Choice Sites High A very few choice waterfront locations sell for up to $24,000, he said, but the median price for Beaver Lake lots is between $5,-000 and $7,000.

The dream took much imagination on the part of those who stood among drying corn stalks to visualize the offerings of a lake which didn't exist. That lake now is 61 feet deep and splashing close to its 81/2 miles of shoreline.

It is anticipated that the lake will reach the desired depth and shoreline within the next year.

But there were problems in the dream's becoming a reality.

Inclement weather delayed construction and the installation of sewer and water facilitites. Early in 1974, the water level in the rapidly expanding lake had to be lowered to allow workers to do final work on the dam.

Although water came up quickly at first, after the dam was closed again in June 1974 the drought created some problems, but the wetter winter added as much as nine feet of water to parts of the lake and pushed it close to its full size.

Recession Felt

Also, the influence of the recession was felt at Beaver Lake in the sale of lots.

According to Calvin, an Omaha realty firm purchased more than 200 lots for development but the firm suffered financial difficulties and defaulted on the purchase.

Calvin said that Beaver Lake was practically sold out prior to that, but because of the purchase default, an additional 200 lots were again available for sale by Beaver Lake Corp.

The developers of the recreational area had lakerelated recreation in mind and do not plan golf courses or tennis courts, according to Calvin.

The area now includes a clubbouse, swimming pool, beaches, game areas, picnic areas, playground, putting green and camping sites.

The lake provides the setting for boating, skiing, fishing or just enjoying the surrounding beauty and Nebraska sunsets.

Commercial lots have been selling well this year, according to Calvin, who notes that an individual who purchases commercial property for a restaurant, for example, has exclusive commercial eating establishment rights for Beaver Lake.

Owned By Doctor

He said an Omaha physician has purchased the restaurant site and as part of this purchase is now operating the refreshment stand near the clubhouse.

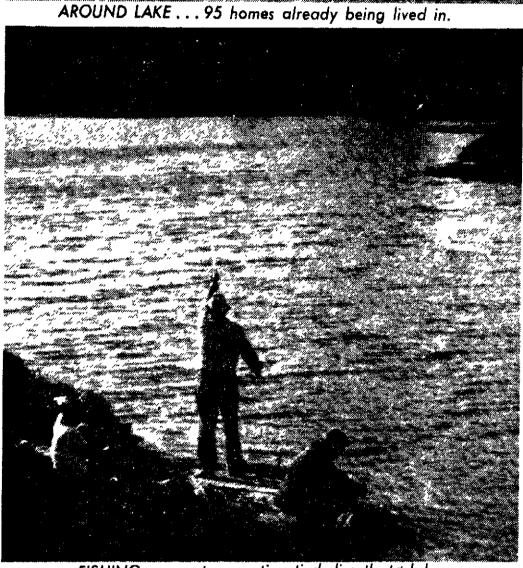

Tentative plans are being formulated to build an enclosed shopping mall on the southwest corner of the commercial intersection.

The proposed mall would house about a dozen stores, and construction could begin as early as next spring, Calvin said, noting that several businesses have expressed an interest in the shopping center, including real estate, savings and loan, construction and insurance offices,

Another problem is that 95% of Egyptians live on 5% of the land - along the Nile, he said Agriculture thrives, from peanuts to alfalfa, and trees grow in former desert sands. Evans grinned, "It was tough for a Cornhusker to see corn higher in Egypt than in Nebraska," towering at 10 feet tall.

COLONEL . . . thought chicken inferior.

Heublein Settles Suit With Colonel Sanders

Heublein bought Kentucky Fried Chicken, it hired the originator, Col Harland D Sanders, as "goodwill am-basador" to promote "fingerlickin' good" chicken

Trouble is the colonel didn't much like what Heublein, a liquor and food congolomerate, was doing to his chicken. He didn't much care for the mashed potatoes and gravy either

He knocked the chicken in public and referred to Heublein executives as "a bunch of booze hounds." But what really made him mad was they wouldn't take his advice.

"When they don't listen and are putting out a product you don't like, it makes you damn mad, particularly when they are using your name," Sanders said.

"I was an outcast with the company, and an odd thing, they probably didn't like me for some reason. They were paying me $75,000 a year, plus $100,000 for the television commercials, and not getting a damn bit of good out of me.

Heublein put up with the badmouthing because Sanders - a "living food image" with white hair and goatee, white linen plantation suit, black string tie and carved cane - sold a lot of

Sanders and his wife opened "Claudia Sanders, the Colonel's Lady Dinner House" back home ın Shelbyville, Ky, and made plans to franchise it nationwide

Heublein went to court. claiming they held exclusive rights to the colonel's name Not to be outdone, Sanders and his wife countersued, charging Heublem with interferring with their right to open the restaurants.

The day before Sander's 85th birthday, Heublien settled out of court, paid Sanders and his wife $1 million, continued his salary as "goodwill ambassador" and allowed the new venture to go forward as the "Claudia Sanders Dinner House."

But, said Sanders, what really "makes me feel wonderful" was Heublein executives finally agreed to a cooking lesson.

So one Saturday, golf day for many executives, the top officers of Heublein gathered at chicken headquarters in Louisville to watch Sanders cook "as good a chicken as I ever ate."

"I proved to them that it could be done," said Sanders. "They were just as interested in quality as I was but didn't know how to go about it."

Hooker Family Name Embarrassing

DEAR ABBY: I am a direct desendant of General Joseph Hooker, who served valiantly in the Civil War.

I do not know how my family name became a synonym for prostitute, whore or harlot, but I either. find it very offensive.

There are numerous other I a point? Hookers who are respectable, law-abiding citizens, and I am sure I speak for them when I say we Hookers are slandered by this commonly accepted, immoral connotation.

I have two daughters and a son, and the girls especially have been embarrassed numerous times by people who have made jokes about their being a couple of "hookers."

My son is seriously considering changing his name because his fiancee doesn't want to be a "Hooker," and she says if she has daughters, she doesn't want them to be "Hookers,"

Am I overly sensitive? Or have

A PROUD HOOKER DEAR PROUD: You have a point. Little can be done about thoughtless people who use your family name as a synonym for a woman of the streets, but I'll print your letter as a reminder. Also, if your son wants to change his name, it's his privilege.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a guy who is so cheap that he won't marry the mother welfare and it pays for all her people. doctor and hospital bills?

We are a young married couple who worry about the high cost of living but struggle along, trying to pay for doctor and hospital bills, the house we are buying and our taxes.

Our neighbors have been living together for three years. He makes more money than I do, but he told me that he would be a fool to marry his "old lady" because she'd lose all those benefits from welfare.

It burns me up to see them enjoying all the extra money they have from such a fraud ting to hear someone singing a

DEAR ABBY: I am a professional entertainer. I love to sing, and being on the bandstand, showing people a good time, is what it's all about.

I have a very real gripe: Invariably, there is a frustrated singer in the audience. He (or she) will dance as close to the mike as possible and sing loudly along with me. It's very distracusually off-key.

I want everyone to enjoy themselves, but not at my expense. After all, someone just might be trying to listen to ME.

The orchestra and I practice long, hard hours to make our music good, and it bugs me to have somebody who is on his own little ego trip louse it up for everyone else.

If some self-styled vocalist wants to be where I am, let him take voice lessons as I did, form a group and take it from the top, boys! I hear you also get paid. So, if you're there in the audience, please, don't sing!

Heublein Settles Suit With Colonel Sanders

Heublein bought Kentucky Fried Chicken, it hired the originator, Col. Harland D. Sanders, as "goodwill amlickin' good" chicken.

Trouble is the colonel didn't much like what Heublein, a liquor and food congolomerate, was doing to his chicken. He didn't much care for the mashed potatoes and gravy either.

He knocked the chicken in public and referred to Heublein executives as "a bunch of booze hounds." But what really made him mad was they wouldn't take his advice.

"When they don't listen and are putting out a product you don't like, it makes you damn mad, particularly when they are using your name," Sanders said.

"I was an outcast with the company, and an odd thing, they probably didn't like me for some reason. They were paying me $75,000 a year, plus $100,000 for the television commercials, and not getting a damn bit of good out of me.

Heublein put up with the badmouthing because Sanders - a "living food image" with white plantation suit, black string tie and carved cane - sold a lot of Sanders and his wife opened "Claudia Sanders, the Colonel's Lady Dinner House" back home in Shelbyville, Ky., and made basador" to promote "finger- plans to franchise it nationwide.

Heublein went to court, claiming they held exclusive rights to the colonel's name. Not to be outdone, Sanders and his wife countersued, charging Heublein with interferring with their right to open the restaurants.

The day before Sander's 85th birthday, Heublien settled out of court, paid Sanders and his wife $1 million, continued his salary as "goodwill ambassador" and allowed the new venture to go forward as the "Claudia Sanders Dinner House."

But, said Sanders, what really "makes me feel wonderful" was Heublein executives finally agreed to a cooking lesson.

So one Saturday, golf day for many executives, the top officers of Heublein gathered at chicken headquarters in Louisville to watch Sanders cook "as good a chicken as I ever ate."

"I proved to them that it could hair and goatee, white linen be done," said Sanders. "They were just as interested in quality as I was but didn't know how to go about it."

Escorts Help Elderly Bus Users

By JOANNE FARRIS disabled, or blind persons would like to be able to ride the buses of the town they live in but are afraid to try.

Portland, Ore., has initiated a unique program, which any city owning a municipal bus line could adopt. The city's Bureau of Human Resources finances an eight-member escort staff who have been trained to assist and educate the elderly and disabled so that they can become independent bus users.

The escorts who range in age from 48 to 75, have been trained to know all the metropolitan bus routes and schedules, and their veteran driver-trainer has made them experts in showing how to get on and off buses more easily.

The escorts help build up client confidence in their own ability to cope with such seemingly difficult procedures as crossing a busy street when the lights seem to change too rapidly.

The helpers accompany their subjects from home to destination, offering physical assistance and mental comfort, and imparting necessary information. The service is called Senior Escort Program and it is free. During the first two months of operation it has assisted over 200 Portland residents. The service is available from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on weekdays. Escorts receive a modest supend.

stands at 56-41% negative, these latest trial-heat results indicate that Ford is still a formidable opponent for the Democrats in 1976 and that the electorate is willing to vote for a candidate about whom they have some substantial reservations.

Last month, a cross section of 1,307 likely voters nationwide were surveyed in considerable depth by the Harris Survey. The survey asked each voter the following question.

"Suppose for president in 1976, it were between President Ford for the Republicans and (read Democratic name) for the Democrats. If you had to choose right now, would you vote for Ford the Republican or for the

Although the lead President Ford holds over each Democrat varies widely, the actual percentage obtained by Ford in each pairing did not vary much at all. The high water mark for the President was his 53% against Gov. Brown of California his lowest score was the 47% he recorded against Sen Jackson of Washington When the Ford percentage against all nine potential opponents is averaged out, it comes to an even 50% of all likely voters.

This 50% average can be viewed in two different lights Ford's boosters can say that he has made an impressive showing by corralling roughly 50% of the vote at a time when the Presient is widely criticized for his handling of the economy and when his job rating is negative.

If he can improve the economic health of the country between now and the fall of 1976 or can come to a dramatic agreement with the Russians over arms control, he can then be expected to add to his base of 50%. So the Republican National Committee might find some optimism in these current results.

By the same token, the Democrats might view the results in quite a different light. As President, Gerald Ford is known to 98% of the electorate. Yet he barely tops the 50% average even when he is pitted against Democrats who are not known to even a majority of the voters: Gov. Brown of California (known to 44%); Sen. Bayh of Indiana (known to 49%); Sen. Robert Byrd of West Virginia (known to 47%). As a general pattern, Ford consistently falls short of the 50% mark when pitted against the best known Democrats: Kennedy (known to 97%); Humphrey (known to 94%); Jackson (known to 74%); Muskie (known to 89%). The Democrats may conclude that President Ford will be hardpressed to pass the 50% mark when a known candidate finally

The obvious conclusions from this early preferential poll are: President Ford is far from a shoe-in in 1976, although the Democrats have yet to produce a challenger who appears likely to take him; the political process has yet to produce the kind of alternatives the voters hope to have by this time next year. In the lovelorn column, a nervous fellow said: "I told my wife I'm a santiary inspector, but I'm really a garbage man." He figured if he copped to the truth, his everloving would leave him.

I don't know how I would answer that. The lovelorn writers grab these things like you must grasp the thistle:

She said tell the wife the truth. If she powders out because you collect garbage, you bettah off.

I would have told the man: "Move to Hartford, Conn." In that home of great insurance companies, the garbage men decided to shine up their image. They call themselves "garbologists." Ads in the paper said: "Meet your friendly gar-

Winds of autumn whipping up the bay. Suddenly the days are shorter. Night falls swiftly. Across the water, in the neighboring apartment, Faggot is early at the martinis.

I only know Faggot by his name on the bank of mail boxes. But seeing him each night, framed in the goldfish bowl windows, I've come to have an interest in him. Like a character in a novel.

**☆ ☆ ☆

Faggot pours the gin generously. Measures the vermouth drop by drop, like a chemist. He uses a glass pitcher and a long handled spoon to mix Mrs. Faggot putters around the kitchen. Puts pans on the stove. Opens drawer after What can she be saying? "Faggot, put down those mar-

Faggot stirs on grimly.  $\Delta \Delta \Delta$

A great many things can go wrong in the kitchen. I's a friction area between the martini mix and the upside down cake.

Someday science will discover it's cans, not chorus girls, that strain the marriage vows. "For better or for worse," says the parson. And take it from me, it's at its worst in the kitchen.

America is a canned nation. Each person opens 250 cans a year - work that out on your Texas Instruments calculator. Each man, woman and diapered baby opens 250 cans.

The can that wrecks the most marriages is the little anchovy can with the winding key. By the time the master of the scatter gets involved with anchovy can, it is slightly open. The key has come off leaving a ribbon of sharp steel twisted beyond repair.

You can never get it on the key tracks again.

"How in -, I mean, why didn't you call me before you tried to open it?" says the man. Madame says: "I had it almost open. Then the key slipped out."

The can is a little open. But not enough to fish the anchovies out, see? (There's Faggot at the second martini. Lord pity the poor sailors on a night like this.) (Copyright Chronicle Publishing Co. 1975)

In the lovelorn column, a nervous fellow said: "I told my wife I'm a santiary inspector, but I'm really a garbage man." He figured if he copped to the truth, his everloving would leave him.

I don't know how I would answer that. The lovelorn writers grab these things like you must grasp the thistle:

She said tell the wife the truth. If she powders out because you collect garbage, you bettah off.

I would have told the man: "Move to Hartford, Conn." In that home of great insurance companies, the garbage men decided to shine up their image. They call themselves "garbologists." Ads in the paper said: "Meet your friendly garbologist."

They designed themselves new uniforms with red berets. A sporty bunch worth getting up for when the cans rattle in the early morning.

Lincolnites Steamed By Water Bills

The Lincoln man with the big house, three air coolers and a $430 water bill in two months isn't the only one complaining about the city's water rates.

Approximately 1,335 of the 26, 000 Lincoln Water System customers billed in September complained or made inquiries about their water bills in the last three weeks of the month, according to J. W. Livengood, business manager of the city water system.

"A year ago, I would say we never had 621 complaints in a year's time," Livengood told a meeting of the Water and Sewer Advisory Board Wednesday afternoon. That many complaints were received between Sept. 15 and Sept. 19, he said.

The advisory board is beginning a review of rates at the city council's request and will make a recommendation within the next six months.

A new rate schedule which reversed the practice of charging customers less as water consumption increased went into effect Jan. 24. Users are now charged more as usage exceeds a base-demand rate, which is based on the user's 12-month water usage.

Robert Clark, city-county human resources coordinator. has recommended the appointment of an advisory committee to help develop library services for Lancaster County patrons, Dalrymple said.

Ringgold (AP) - Sandhills ranchers Wednesday surveyed thousands of acres of scorched rangeland and predicted that some ranchers would have to sell off part of their herds.

A prairie fire Tuesday destroyed an estimated 17,500 acres, causing the loss of winter pasture and valuable hay as it swept nearly 30 miles across parts of Logan, Thomas, and McPherson Counties.

"It's a pretty sorrowful mess," said Mrs. Clarence Munson, "but we've got a lot of neighbors in the same mess." The Munsons, who live about 10 miles north of Ringgold, were in the path of the fire.

Authorities say the fire apparently started at a trash barrel at the Lariat Boys Ranch, west of Stapleton, swept west, and then turned north.

"We're going to take the gun out with us when we check the cattle,"she said. "There might be some we'll have to shoot.'

However, a preliminary check with area ranchers revealed none who had found any dead or seriously injured cattle.

A number of ranchers cut their fences to allow their neighbors cattle to escape the path of the flames. Fire sirens were used to drive reluctant cattle from their home ranges.

Eldon Starr of rural McPherson County said he thought he had lost some cattle to the flames, but later found them safe in a sandy blowout.

"We're gonna have to have rain," he said. "I lost a pasture that we hadn't even grazed. We were saving it for winter. There are still several others in the same boat."

Logan County Sheriff Jim Wonch, said the fire split when it reached the Ray Trumbull ranch, forcing firemen to battle two head fires for a

The fire surrounded the Clarence Munson ranch buildings, but none was destroyed. Observers Tuesday night saw billowing flames from stacks of baled hay near the Munson buildings and thought the barn was burning.

The flames were stopped several miles south of the Dismal River in Thomas County, officials said. Spray planes were called in but were grounded because of the winds of 35 miles per hour from the south and southeast.

Winds shifted Wednesday to the northwest and began driving sand across the bare hills. "I wonder what those hills are going to look like by spring," said a rancher who had spent the night stamping out smouldering hot-spots. North Platte Fire Chief Charles Johnson said as a result of two fires in the area in the last three days over 20,000 acres of grassland have been burned off compare with the statewide total

Omaha Prostitute's Claims About Police Not Verified

Omaha (AP) - A prostitute's claim that she has had sexual relations with about 60 Omaha police officers, both on and off duty, hasn't been substantiated, Public Safety Director Richard Roth said Wednesday.

New Procedure Tried To Protest Dismissal

A state official said the campus chain of command, Wednesday new ground is being broken in the handling of a case involving a Peru State College employe who was fired by Campus President Douglas Pearson. Pearson said he did not want to discuss the case, which involves Mrs. Sue Fitzgerald, because the state grievance procedure had been invoked. In the state personnel office, John P. Russell said notification of the grievance procedure invocation had been received. He said Mrs. Fitzgerald will first discuss the situation with her immediate supervisor. "If she is not satisfied, the matter will be reduced to writing" and would be appealed Russell said.

However, beyond that point, he said, the grievance procedure will be altogether something new. "We've never had a system. In other words, he said, grievance from the state such matters do not go to the colleges," Russell said.

At some point, he said, if Mrs. Fitzgerald pursues the matter, the case would wind up in the state personnel office, specifically before Roy Gardner, state personnel director.

Rich Bringleson, executive secretary of the board of trustees for Nebraska's four state colleges, said whether such cases would go all the way to the trustees before going over to Gardner's office is a question he

If you make it clear that you don't want your survivors to spend more than a certain amount on your funeral, you'll have given them valuable help. After a death, the bereaved family would be wise to discuss price among themselves before talking to an undertaker, and to be accompanied by a friend or advisor when entering the casket-selection room. #### Interest Rate Hopes Aid Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) - Continued hopes for lower interest rates and a spreading belief that somehow New York City will muddle through its current financial crisis helped stock prices gain in heavier trading Wednesday. The Dow Jones industrial av-

Much of the day's strength centered on higher priced blue chips and glamors, but airlines, retail stocks and oil issues joined in the upswing.

Issues gaining in price outnumbered losers, 887 to 443, of the 1,774 stocks traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume on the Big Board per-

In testimony before Congress, Fed Chairman Arthur Burns appeared to soften his hard line against federal aid to New York City, outlining for the first time a blueprint for federal legislation to ease the city's crisis.

But a spokesman for the Ford administration reiterated the President's opposition to outright federal help for the city.

King's Plan Offers 10% To Unsecured Creditors

By The Associated Press A reorganization plan for King's Food Host, that offers unsecured creditors with more than $4 million in claims no more than 10 cents on the dollar.

has been sent to all creditors. An accompanying letter from Samuel Barger, Omaha Kraft Food executive and chairman of the creditors' committee, said the committee feels the offer "represents the maximum potential recovery by creditors ..." He said the alternative to acceptance of the plan "is the liquidation of Food Host in bankruptcy," adding that because of "large potentially secured creditors" the recovery of unsecured creditors would then likely be "less than the 10%" offered in the plan."

A liquidation settlement could take two or more years to complete, Barger noted.

Bicknell Robbins, King's president, said he expects creditor approval of the plan to take at least 30 days.

A creditors hearing involving the plan has been scheduled for Nov. 11 in Omaha by David Crawford, bankruptcy judge in U.S. District Court.

The plan sent to creditors notes that much of the $410,000 that Food Host will place in an escrow account to pay claims of unsecured creditors is to come from a renegotiated $2.4 million 210-260 to 63.25; U.S. 1-3 180-270 to 63.00; sows fully 1.00 'ower; U.S. 1-3 280-400 ib 57.00-28.00. from a renegotiated $2.4 million Commerce.

Funeral Costs Can Be Curbed

By JANE BRYANT QUINN New York - You can get, from almost any undertaker, a funeral you can afford. But when it comes to selecting burial services, you're often your own worst enemy. Suffused with grief, you may determine to give the person who died "the best." But by defining "the best" purely in monetary terms, you're ready to be sold a burial that funerals could be had for as little wipes out much of your financial reserve.

-Staying Ahead-

Widows, especially, may impulsively spend all of a small insurance policy or union benefit on the burial, instead of saving some for the difficult adjustment period ahead. No one would quarrel with the desire to give the dead "the best." But is money the only way that can be expressed? A small graveside service for the immediate family, followed by a memorial service for the dead person's friends, can be arranged inexpensively by any funeral director. Often, it is a more sincere and moving tribute than an expensive, preprogrammed funeral, of which the family remembers little but the bill. But it's hard for bereaved people to resist an expensive funeral.

From the time the hospital asks you whom they should call later. to remove the body, you are on a moving belt of funeral custom that is hard to stop. Should you try to fight the system, you may be made to feel cheap and disrespectful, as if you were somehow dishonoring the dead.

But funerals are for the living, not the dead, and therefore should be chosen in light of what will be "the best" for the surviving family. Here are some ways that a really determined purchaser of funeral services can keep the bill down:

(1) Right now, before anything happens, bring up the subject of funerals with your family. Discuss what money there is to pay for burial, and how much should be spent.

In a recent survey of funeral homes in Washington, D.C., the Federal Trade Commission

Malito Out? Davis In! Osborne Knows It's Homecoming

It's Homecoming Saturday

Tom Osborne, Nebraska's head football coach, didn't know Saturday's Big Eight Conference opener against Kansas was "homecoming" until Mark Ahmann interviewed him for a television show

"Well, coach, this being homecoming I guess your players are all fired up," Ahmana said, catching Osborne by so much surprise that all he could do was laugh.

"We appreciate the preparation of the students and everyone involved in homecoming," Osborne said. "But I don't think it has a direct impact on our players' attitudes.

'Around here, as far as our football team goes, homecoming is just like every other game. They're all awfully important and it's hard to make one more important than any other."

Homecoming can be a big deal at smaller schools where the old grads come back for once-a-year reunions with old friends. But at Nebraska, there's going to be 76,896-plus in Memorial Stadium every time the Huskers play football.

The way things have been going around here in recent years, the homecoming game should be scheduled at bowl time.

Malito May Miss Game

More important than homecoming this weekend is the fact split end Chuck Malito may not be able to play against Kansas because of a sprained knee.

'I'd say he's out unless he makes great improvement is the next day or two," Osborne said. "Of course, he's pretty tough and wants to play. It's nothing real serious. If he can't play Saturday, I hope he's ready next week."

The good news out of Wednesday's practice in pads was that fullback Tony Davis will be ready for the Jayhawks even though he hasn't been suited up all week. He suffered a hip pointer against Miami last week.

"His hip still is stinging some when he runs, and we think it's a nerve bothering him," Osborne reported. "He could have practiced today. We hate that he has missed practice time, but he seems to be recovering fast. It wasn't as serious as the hip pointer Dave Gillespie had a few weeks back."

Sports Signals

By Bob Owens Star Sports Editor

If Malito doesn't play, the ranking of the available split ends will be: 1. Bobby Thomas; 2. Dave Shamblin; 3. Ron Nitzel.

Shamblin and Nitzel had been alternating on the 60-man squad that dresses for games, but Shamblin has moved ahead during the time Nitzel missed as a result of a pulled muscle suffered in practice last week.

Big Eight The Best

Figures released by the NCAA Statistics Service tend to prove the superiority of the Big Eight Conference over the rest of the nation so far in 1975.

covered by the NCAA, not the least of which is a 26-4 record against outside competition. The nearest conferences are the two new conferences - the Southland (9-5) and the Pacific

Other standings against outside competition are the Eastern independents 128-19, Southwest 15-10-2, Ivy 7-5, Mid-American 11-9, Southeastern 13-13-2 and Big Ten 14-14-2.

Only in the passing game does the Big Eight fail to lead the nation. The Pacific Coast has the best pass offense as a conference with an average gain of 162.1 yards a game. The Atlantic Coast is No. 1 in pass defense, its members yielding an average of 86.1 yards a game.

Categories led by the Big Eight, and the per-game averages: scoring offense 27.3, scoring defense 12.5, rushing offense 271.3, total offense 364.8, rushing defense 142.2 and total defense 251.8.

Those figures should give fans enough ammunition to back up their claim of Big Eight college football superiority.

Fall Means More Than Football

Keep Tabs on Fall

Big Red football isn't the only thing happening in Nebraska each and every fall season, although it does seem to take up the majority of the conversations around the state. Fall is the most colorful time of the year. Mother Nature sees to that. Right now the cottonwoods, maples and others are lending their artists' touch to the natural spectacle across

Fall is the most opportune time for hiking, cycling, camping, fishing and, of course, hunting. Temperatures are most cooperative for comfortable outings so be off with you.

Prime places to stop about this time of year are the woodlands of the Missouri River, Platte, Elkhorn and Blue, Indian Cave State Park, Ponca State Park, Dead Timber, Two Rivers or any of the Interstate 80 Chain-O-Lakes west of Grand Island are superbly colored points of interest.

Hikers in the Lincoln area have excellent opportunity awaiting them with a stroll through Wilderness Park or stop in at the Chet Ager Nature Center in Pioneer Park.

Bikers could also look toward Pioneers Park for a close outing or the Salt Valley Lakes for a little longer fall tripall the major lakes via hard-surfaced roads.

Campers should think hard before turning down the scenery of Ponca or Indian Cave State Parks. These two Missouri River parks along the river bluffs are simply out of sight this time of year.

Regulars Go Out, Too

Regular outdoor-types should also think activity, especially the fishermen. Tune in on the Sunday sports outdoor page for a story guaranteed to turn every fisherman green from envy on striped bass fishing at Lake McConaughy By the way, the trout haven't started yet.

It's All Outdoors By Tom Vint Outdoor Editor

Closer to home, fishing should be turning on again soon on the Salt Valley Lakes with regular activity for those fishing bass, bluegill, crappie and walleye. The cooler weather often gets fishermen thinking about other things when some of the season's best fishing is passing them by.

And, of course, there is hunting. Early in the fall, hunting and camping outings are a favorite combination of the Vint household. The cool nights beat the heck out of summer

Hunting seasons now underway include the eastern zone waterfowl seasons, rabbit, squirrel, grouse, snipe, rail, archery antelope and deer bow season. All show favorable signs and the fall makes a hunting trip most worthwhile if you just sit down every once in a while to enjoy it.

If you're looking for a "smoething special" fall outing, try canoeing a river during this colorful season. It's a sure bet to knock your eyes out from pure beauty and I don't know of any river you could float which wouldn't turn the trick.

The most important thing of all, however is getting out. The fall color and crisp clean air is Mother Nature's way of saying. "Here is my harvest season offering to you following another summer of growing. Behold and enjoy.'

enthusiasm and sportsmanship indicate the success of an athletic program, the Lincoln amateur boxing took a giant step forward Wednesday night in the season's opening smoker at Pershing Auditorium. After being informed at 4 p.m. Wednesday that the entries from the entire Nebraska penal complex would not be allowed to compete this year, due to a parole board decision, it appeared that the card would be in doubt.

But the local promoters, the Lincoln Association of Master Barbers, were able to find the matchups and came up with some great bouts.

Holen Wins

In the opener, Lincoln's Doug Metzger lost a decision to last year's Midwest Golden Glove heavyweight runner-up Stan Holen of Verdigre.

Holen, who defeated last year's Midwest champ, Chuck Anderson, three weeks ago, quickly went to the Lincoln figher's head early in the first round.

But Metzger, a 6-4, 223-pounder, came back with rights straight rights to the head to the body and head to set up a number of left-right combinations, using his reach advantage to get to Holen.

Holen gained points in the second round, though, and took away Metzger's long rights to the head. Metzger had to cover up to protect himself from the powerful straight shots Holen poured on, but still managed to get some choice shots. The third round was much the same with Holen rocking Metzger with powerful right blows to the head, while the Lincolnite answered with a couple of brilliant combinations.

"There was only one way to take away his reach advantage, and that was to close up on him," said Holen. "He was throwing a lot of outside punches that really hit hard in the first round, but when I closed up he couldn't get to me, and I was able to get some good hooks and uppercuts in on him."

The next bout went to Lincoln's Bruce Pearson in a split decision over Vance Hansen of Verdigre.

Pearson, fighting for the newly-formed Ray Menefee club, had to overcome the stylish Hansen, who held a seven pound advantage at 166-pounds.

Surprises Foe

Hansen tried to bull and butt Pearson with some success in the first round. But the Lincoln fighter, who was able to pick his punches at will, surprised Hansen with a number of plaint from another boxer about making his opponent back away. Pearson finally took the fight in the third round when his left jab set up his right hand time Pearson and Metzger fought exhibition fights with Metzger taking on Ben Berry and Pearson taking on his coach and Eddie Lewis, senior cornerback from Mobile, Ala., had been the silent figure for three years in Kansas' tough secondary defense which will oppose Nebraska in the Big Eight's football opener for both teams Saturday in Memorial Stadium.

Revenge Motive

That "something" is that Nebraska's 56-0 victory a year ago in Lawrence, Kan., wasn't indicative of the ability of Lewis and his veteran teammates Kurt Koff, Steve Taylor and Chris Golub.

On that afternoon, Husker quarterback Dave Humm blitzed the Jayhawks with 15 consecurive pass completions and Lewis says he's one who hasn't forgotten the sting of the feat.

Lewis admits Kansas' secondary hasn't been tested much in the first four games this season, but is quick to point out that Nebraska's Vince Ferragamo and Terry Luck are apt to do some probing through the air

It's Homecoming Saturday

Tom Osborne, Nebraska's head football coach, didn't know Saturday's Big Eight Conference opener against Kansas was "homecoming" until Mark Ahmann interviewed him for a television show.

"Well, coach, this being homecoming I guess your players are all fired up," Ahmann said, catching Osborne by so much surprise that all he could do was laugh.

"We appreciate the preparation of the students and everyone involved in homecoming," Osborne said. "But I don't think it has a direct impact on our players' attitudes.

Malito May Miss Game

More important than homecoming this weekend is the fact split end Chuck Malito may not be able to play against Kansas because of a sprained knee.

"I'd say he's out unless he makes great improvement in the next day or two," Osborne said. "Of course, he's pretty tough and wants to play. It's nothing real serious. If he can't play Saturday, I hope he's ready next week."

The good news out of Wednesday's practice in pads was that fullback Tony Davis will be ready for the Jayhawks even though he hasn't been suited up all week. He suffered a hip pointer against Miami last week.

"His hip still is stinging some when he runs, and we think it's a nerve bothering him," Osborne reported. "He could have practiced today. We hate that he has missed practice time, but he seems to be recovering fast. It wasn't as serious as the hip pointer Dave Gillespie had a few weeks back."

Sports Signals

By Bob Owens Star Sports Editor

If Malito doesn't play, the ranking of the available split ends will be: 1. Bobby Thomas; 2. Dave Shamblin; 3. Ron Nitzel.

Shamblin and Nitzel had been alternating on the 60-man squad that dresses for games, but Shamblin has moved ahead during the time Nitzel missed as a result of a pulled muscle suffered in practice last week.

covered by the NCAA, not the least of which is a 26-4 record against outside competition. The nearest conferences are the two new conferences - the Southland (9-5) and the Pacific

The conference leads the nation in six of nine categories

Other standings against outside competition are the Eastern independents 128-19, Southwest 15-10-2, Ivy 7-5, Mid-American 11-9, Southeastern 13-13-2 and Big Ten 14-14-2.

Only in the passing game does the Big Eight fail to lead the nation. The Pacific Coast has the best pass offense as a conference with an average gain of 162.1 yards a game. The Atlantic Coast is No. 1 in pass defense, its members yielding an average of 86.1 yards a game.

Categories led by the Big Eight, and the per-game averages: scoring offense 27.3, scoring defense 12.5, rushing offense 271.3, total offense 364.8, rushing defense 142.2 and total defense 251.8.

Those figures should give fans enough ammunition to back up their claim of Big Eight college football superiority.

Fall Means More Than Football

Keep Tabs on Fall

Big Red football isn't the only thing happening in Nebraska each and every fall season, although it does seem to take up the majority of the conversations around the state.

Fall is the most colorful time of the year. Mother Nature sees to that. Right now the cottonwoods, maples and others are lending their artists' touch to the natural spectacle across

Fall is the most opportune time for hiking, cycling, camping, fishing and, of course, hunting. Temperatures are most cooperative for comfortable outings so be off with you.

Prime places to stop about this time of year are the woodlands of the Missouri River, Platte, Elkhorn and Blue. Indian Cave State Park, Ponca State Park, Dead Timber, Two Rivers or any of the Interstate 80 Chain-O-Lakes west of Grand Island are superbly colored points of interest.

Hikers in the Lincoln area have excellent opportunity awaiting them with a stroll through Wilderness Park or stop in at the Chet Ager Nature Center in Pioneer Park.

Bikers could also look toward Pioneers Park for a close outing or the Salt Valley Lakes for a little longer fall tripall the major lakes via hard-surfaced roads.

Campers should think hard before turning down the scenery of Ponca or Indian Cave State Parks. These two Missouri River parks along the river bluffs are simply out of sight this time of year.

Regulars Go Out, Too

Regular outdoor-types should also think activity, especially the fishermen. Tune in on the Sunday sports outdoor page for a story guaranteed to turn every fisherman green from envy on striped bass fishing at Lake McConaughy. By the way, the trout haven't started yet.

Closer to home, fishing should be turning on again soon on the Salt Valley Lakes with regular activity for those fishing bass, bluegill, crappie and walleye. The cooler weather often gets fishermen thinking about other things when some of the season's best fishing is passing them by.

And, of course, there is hunting. Early in the fall, hunting and camping outings are a favorite combination of the Vint household. The cool nights beat the heck out of summer

Hunting seasons now underway include the eastern zone waterfowl seasons, rabbit, squirrel, grouse, snipe, rail, archery antelope and deer bow season. All show favorable signs and the fall makes a hunting trip most worthwhile if you just sit down every once in a while to enjoy it.

If you're looking for a "smoething special" fall outing, try canoeing a river during this colorful season. It's a sure bet to knock your eyes out from pure beauty and I don't know of any river you could float which wouldn't turn the trick.

The most important thing of all, however is getting out. The fall color and crisp clean air is Mother Nature's way of saying, "Here is my harvest season offering to you following another summer of growing. Behold and enjoy.

LNE Gains Edge With Media

What looked like a heavy favorite has changed into something else, according to a Sunday Journal and Star pulsetaking for Friday night's Lincoln East-Lincoln Northeast football showdown at Seacrest Field.

The early line showed second-ranked Northeast an overwhelming favorite to defeat the fifth-ranked Spartans. But the applause meter isn't pointing strictly toward the Rockets' side. In a sampling of Lincoln sports media reporters.

Northeast earned the favorite's role from eight. Four prefer East's chances in the showdown. Here's how the media sees It:

Randy York, Journal and Star

Scoring a touchdown against either one of these teams in recent years has been about as tough as putting toothpaste back in the tube.

They've been that good. But East has run out of a Bill Holmes or Gordon Thiessen and Northeast has no more Steve Singletons or Bruce Reeds on defense this year.

It's more of a wide-open show for both teams. The fans should sense that possibility and pack Seacrest Field to the seams. It's a playoff year, isn't it?

Northeast 28, East 21.

Chuck Sinclair, Journal and Star Much has been said about the talents of East's Sam

Yowell and Dave Watters and Northeast's Steve Eliker and Doug Berka.

But games such as this are decided where it counts - in the line. Northeast appears to have the upper hand with a much bigger and stronger front, both offensively and defen-

Although the Rockets probably won't keep Yowell & Co. from breaking at least one long one, look for Northeast's line to mass produce the openings needed for sustained scoring drives.

Northeast 21, East 8.

Dave Sittler, Journal

With a coach named Sittler (line coach Lyle) on the Spartan staff, how could I go against East?

Easy, because the names of Eliker, Morton, Monahan, Berka and Bell belong on the Northeast roster.

Hopefully, a classic matchup like this won't be decided by a lucky break. Sam Yowell is certainly super, but Steve Eliker is a star.

Northeast 14. East 7.

Ken Hambleton, Star

The quickness with which the Northeast Rockets score, winning many games in the short span of five minutes, seems to give them the edge over East.

Center Rick Morton seems to give Northeast that extra jump on offense. The runs, therefore, are given more time to develop. The same goes for the pass patterns.

East may have the better defensive team, but it would take a super effort to keep the Rockets from getting the jump on the ball and the scoreboard. Northeast 21, East 13.

Virgil Parker, Journal

It's games like this - and the genuine rah! rah! rah! attitude which surrounds high school sports - that makes me miss my former duties as prep writer for the paper.

I might be inclined to pick Northeast But living in the same house with two East High students makes that a dangerous choice.

East 21, Northeast 14.

Bob Owens, Star East is the defending state champ and hasn't been beaten yet.

You gotta go with the champs until they lose. East 14, Northeast 13.

PREP PICKS

by Randy York Prop Sports Editor

Mark Ahmann, KOLN-TV

Northeast may be a little better overall. But in this kind of a game, you need that additional speed. It takes a breakaway

Sam Yowell is just so darn quick and Dave Watters makes East that much more explosive.

With a boy playing the tuba in the East band and a daughter sitting in the pep club, I'll say: East 20, Northeast 16.

Dick Perry, KFOR

Northeast is bigger physically and the Rockets' have that balance to run and throw well.

Northeast also appears to have better overall quickness. The Rockets also have a string going. That sure won't hurt them any.

Northeast 21, East 7.

Jim Miller, KFOR

Both teams' defenses will give up some points. It could go either way, but size will be the difference down the stretch and Northeast has the size. Most people figure Northeast by two touchdowns, but Lee Zentic always seems to get East up for the big games. I think he likes the underdog role this time.

Sam Yowell is the finest high school running back I've seen in five years. If East gives him some room to run, Northeast will need all the speed it has in the secondary. Northeast 27, East 25.

Don Gill, KLIN

In a traditional series like this, it could go either way. But the harsh realities of this season's results indicate a Northeast

Emotions will be at a seasonal high. But like boxing's tale of the tape, it's best to go with the facts and figures. Northeast 21, East 12.

Bob Moyer, Journal Sam Yowell is good enough for two Spartan scores.

But it's still the best team that will win and Yowell's not enough to stop the rugged Rockets. Northeast 21, East 14.

Steve Gillispie, Star When Northeast has had to come up with the big play to beat East in recent years, the Rockets have fizzled. East 14, Northeast 13.

The quickness with which the Northeast Rockets score, winning many games in the short span of five minutes, seems to give them the edge over East.

Center Rick Morton seems to give Northeast that extra jump on offense. The runs, therefore, are given more time to develop. The same goes for the pass patterns.

East may have the better defensive team, but it would take a super effort to keep the Rockets from getting the jump on the ball and the scoreboard. Northeast 21, East 13.

Virgil Parker, Journal

It's games like this - and the genuine rah! rah! rah! attitude which surrounds high school sports - that makes me miss my former duties as prep writer for the paper.

I might be inclined to pick Northeast. But living in the same house with two East High students makes that a dangerous choice.

You gotta go with the champs until they lose. East 14, Northeast 13.

Northeast may be a little better overall. But in this kind of a game, you need that additional speed. It takes a breakaway Sam Yowell is just so darn quick and Dave Watters makes

East that much more explosive. With a boy playing the tuba in the East band and a daughter sitting in the pep club, I'll say: East 20, Northeast 16.

Dick Perry, KFOR

Northeast is bigger physically and the Rockets' have that balance to run and throw well.

Northeast also appears to have better overall quickness. The Rockets also have a string going. That sure won't hurt them any. Northeast 21, East 7.

Jim Miller, KFOR Both teams' defenses will give up some points. It could go either way, but size will be the difference down the stretch and Northeast has the size.

Most people figure Northeast by two touchdowns, but Lee Zentic always seems to get East up for the big games. I think he likes the underdog role this time. Sam Yowell is the finest high school running back I've seen in five years. If East gives him some room to run, Northeast will need all the speed it has in the secondary. Northeast 27, East 25.

Don Gill, KLIN

In a traditional series like this, it could go either way. But the harsh realities of this season's results indicate a Northeast

Emotions will be at a seasonal high. But like boxing's tale of the tape, it's best to go with the facts and figures. Northeast 21, East 12.

Bob Moyer, Journal

Sam Yowell is good enough for two Spartan scores. But it's still the best team that will win and Yowell's not enough to stop the rugged Rockets. Northeast 21, East 14.

Steve Gillispie, Star When Northeast has had to come up with the big play to beat East in recent years, the Rockets have fizzled. East 14, Northeast 13.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) -The University of Kansas athletic program finished the fiscal year ending June 30 more than $70,000 in the black, Athletic Director Clyde Walker said Wednesday.

"Obviously, we are extremely pleased that we are now operating from a sound financial foundation," Walker said at the regular meeting of the school's athletic board.

He added that although the figures appear to represent a substantial profit, it will serve only to reduce the financial debt the program is operating from.

When named athletic director on July 10, 1973, Walker inherited a fixed debt of $790,638,62 and an operating debt of $257,390.00 for a total debt of $1,-048,028.62. The fixed debt included payments on both the east and west expansions in Memorial Stadium, the artificial turf in the stadium and the office annex to Allen Field House.

Since that time the artificial turf has been paid for, while the over-all fixed debt has been reduced to $584,880.43, Walker said.

He said the fixed debt as it now stands will not be completely erased until 1990. "The pleasing aspect of our program," Walker said, "is that Gov. Christopher S. Bond we've been able to reduce our debt without cutting back on any of our existing programs. In fact, the opposite has been true. We've increased many while making several other improvements.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) -The University of Kansas athletic program finished the fiscal year ending June 30 more than $70,000 in the black, Athletic Director Clyde Walker said Wednesday.

"Obviously, we are extremely pleased that we are now operating from a sound financial foundation," Walker said at the regular meeting of the school's athletic board.

He added that although the figures appear to represent a substantial profit, it will serve only to reduce the financial debt the program is operating from.

When named athletic director on July 10, 1973, Walker inherited a fixed debt of $790,638.62 and an operating debt of $257,390.00 for a total debt of $1,-048,028.62. The fixed debt included payments on both the east and west expansions in Memorial Stadium, the artificial turf in the stadium and the office annex to Allen Field House.

Since that time the artificial turf has been paid for, while the over-all fixed debt has been reduced to $584,880.43, Walker

He said the fixed debt as it now stands will not be completely erased until 1990.

"The pleasing aspect of our program," Walker said, "is that we've been able to reduce our debt without cutting back on any of our existing programs. In fact, the opposite has been true. We'ye increased many while making several other improvements.

Reds Favored In Opening Game

Heno, Nev. (UPI) - Harrah's Reno-Tahoe Racebook Wednesday installed the National League champion Cincinnati Reds as 5-6 favorites to win Saturday's opening game of the 1975 World Series against the American League champion Boston Red Sox.

The Racebook also made the Reds 2-3 favorites to win the best-of-seven series, even though the first two games will be played in Boston's Fenway Park with its "monster" greenwall fence in leftfield.

The third, fourth and fifth games are scheduled for Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights and if sixth and seventh games are necessary, they will be played in Fenway Park next Saturday and Sunday.

Both teams won their respective league pennants with 3-0 sweeps - the Reds beating the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Red Sox knocking off the three-time world champion Okland A's.

Announcers Set For Series

New York (AP) - The television and radio announcing team for baseball's World Series, will be Curt Gowdy, Joe Garagiola and Tony Kubek of NBC along with Boston Red Sox announcers Dick Stockton and Ned Martin and Cincinnati Reds broadcaster Marty Brenneman.

NBC said Wednesday that

Gowdy and Garagiola will alternate on television and radio while Kubek acts as a "rover." The team's announcers will work on television for their home games and will do radio broadcasts on the road. The World Series starts Saturday in

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spoil out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 4 or mere, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper lett-hand corner of the rectangle and check over; one of your lay numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
